I am the founder of GMAT Club, a massive online MBA community, representing 10% of the incoming class at top business schools this year. Here are my thoughts about the book:

The GOOD:- The main value: you can read the essays of the applicants who got into the HBS- 41 recent essays; this is the new edition of the book and has been updated with 41 new essays (24 are carried over from the old edition)- There is only one essay per person (both good and bad); you get more variety but at the same time only a fraction of the picture- The only book with recent essays (all others have 5, 7, and 10+ year old essays)The BAD:- The main disadvantage: you see only a small piece of the puzzle and may potentially change your application for worse- Analysis of each essay is very minimal and is not "official" per se- Absolutely Zero advice/strategies/recommendations. The book starts off with essaysBOTTOM LINE: If you are going to a top 10 school, it is a $10 well spent. However, this book is only valuable as a reference/secondary guide. Find a good general book on essays such as Paul Bodine's Great Applications for Business School or How to get into the Top MBA programs by Richard Montauk and use them as the base and this book to compare your style, story, etc.Some Other Suggestions & Thoughts:1. Plan ahead - draft a schedule and stick to it2. Find the program that fits you best. People get disappointed even with a Top 5 school. It is important to take from the school and also give3.
